Dr. Bradley Vogel

Much like an All-County or All-State Choral performance, an invitational is when a group of selected choirs and individuals prepare the same music, and then join together for an all-day rehearsal, followed by an evening performance. The Invitational brings communities together in one voice.

Any full group that participates will have the opportunity to perform one or two songs independently, with their own director and accompanist, if they desire. The majority of the performance, however, will consist of the complete ensemble with the guest conductor, Bradley Vogel.
